- Authentic, swoon-worthy romance paired with relatable and meaningful themes make Wade a favorite of CBA romance readers

Britt Bradford and Zander Ford have been the best of friends since they met thirteen years ago. Unbeknown to Britt, Zander has been in love with her for just as long.

Independent and adventurous Britt channels her talent into creating chocolates at her hometown shop. Zander is a bestselling author who's spent the past 18 months traveling the world. He's achieved a great deal but still lacks the only thing that ever truly mattered to him—Britt's heart.

When Zander's uncle dies of mysterious causes, he returns to Merryweather, Washington, to investigate, and Britt is immediately there to help. Although this throws them into close proximity, both understand that an attempt at romance could jeopardize their once-in-a-lifetime friendship. But while Britt is determined to resist any change in their relationship, Zander finds it increasingly difficult to keep his feelings hidden.

As they work together to uncover his uncle's tangled past, will the truth of what lies between them also, finally, come to light?

EXCERPT

"Every wave in that big old blue sea is a story."

Bob told me this a long time ago, his voice brined with wind and water. I laughed and tried to count the cresting peaks from his old dock. They disappeared faster than a ten-year-old could count.

"Too many waves," I said. "It can't be."

His smile pushed wrinkles around blue eyes as he squeezed my hand tight.

"So many waves, Annie. You remember that."

So many stories. It would be decades before I'd learn the truth of that. In this pocket of a harbor where splintered lives, like waves broken upon the shore, are gathered up and held close. I never imagined then that it would be my breaking place, too.

Nor how beautiful the breaking could be.

Captivating and Poignant Storytelling from a Gifted New Talent

- Dykes's debut novel delivers a beautifully interwoven tale of family ties, long-buried secrets, romance, and forgiveness
- Dual-time story that takes place in post-WWII and present day in a picturesque coastal Maine harbor town
- For readers of Lisa Wingate, Susan Meissner, Lynn Austin, Julie Cantrell, and Rachel Hauck

In the wake of WWII, a grieving fisherman submits a poem to a local newspaper: a rallying cry for hope, purpose . . . and rocks. Send me a rock for the person you lost, and I will build something life-giving. When the poem spreads farther than he ever intended, Robert Bliss's humble words change the tide of a nation. Boxes of rocks inundate the tiny, coastal Maine town, and he sets his calloused hands to work, but the building halts when tragedy strikes.

Decades later, Annie Sawyer is summoned back to Ansel-by-the-Sea when she learns her Great-Uncle Robert, the man who became her refuge during the hardest summer of her youth, is now the one in need of help. What she didn't anticipate was finding a wall of heavy boxes hiding in his home. Long-ago memories of stone ruins on a nearby island trigger her curiosity, igniting a fire in her anthropologist soul to uncover answers.

She joins forces with the handsome and mysterious harbor postman, and all her hopes of mending the decades-old chasm in her family seem to point back to the ruins. But with Robert failing fast, her search for answers battles against time, a foe as relentless as the ever-crashing waves upon the sea.
